Like the other publications of the Metropolitan Cantor Institute, this setting of the service of Vespers for Great and Holy Friday is UNOFFICIAL and subject to change or revision by the Cantor Institute, the Inter-Eparchial Music Commission, or the Council of Hierarchs of the Byzantine Catholic Metropolitan Church sui juris of Pittsburgh. We hope that it provides spiritual benefit to all who use it.

The Office of Vespers for Great and Holy Friday

Before the service, the burial shroud (plaščanitza) is placed on the holy table, underneath the Gospel book. The celebrant and deacon, in dark vestments, stand before the closed holy doors. The faithful STAND.

Deacon: Reverend Father, give the blessing!

Celebrant: Blessed is our God, always, now and ever and forever.

Response: Amen.

Call to Worship

Come, let us worship our King and God.
Come, let us worship Christ, our King and God.
Come let us worship and bow before the only Lord Jesus Christ, the King and our God.

Psalm 103

Bless the Lord, O my soul!
Lord my God, how great you are.

clothed in majesty and glory,
wrapped in light as in a robe

You stretch out the heavens like a tent.
Above the rains you build your dwelling.

You make the clouds your chariot,
you walk on the wings of the wind;
you make your angels spirits and your ministers a flaming fire.

You founded the earth on its base,
    to stand firm from age to age.

You wrapped it with the ocean like a cloak:
    the waters stood higher than the mountains.

At your threat they took to flight;
    at the voice of your thunder they fled.

They rose over the mountains and flowed down to the place which you had appointed.

You set limits they might not pass lest they return to cover the earth.

You make springs gush forth in the valleys;
    they flow in between the hills.

They give drink to all the beasts of the field;
    the wild asses quench their thirst.

On their banks dwell the birds of heaven;
    from the branches they sing their song.

From your dwelling you water the hills;
    earth drinks its fill of your gift.

You make the grass grow for the cattle and the plants to serve man's needs, that he may bring forth bread from the earth and wine to cheer man's heart;

    oil, to make his face shine
    and bread to strengthen man's heart.
The trees of the Lord drink their fill,
the cedars he planted on Lebanon;

there the birds build their nests;
on the treetop the stork has her home.

The goats find a home on the mountains and rabbits hide in the rocks.

You made the moon to mark the months;
the sun knows the time for its setting.

When you spread the darkness it is night and all the beasts of the forest creep forth.

The young lions roar for their prey and ask their food from God.

At the rising of the sun they steal away and go to rest in their dens.

Man goes out to his work,
to labor till evening falls.

How many are your works, O Lord!
In wisdom you have made them all.
The earth is full of your riches.

There is the sea, vast and wide,
with its moving swarms past counting, living things great and small.

The ships are moving there,
and the monsters you made to play with.

All of these look to you
to give them their food in due season.
You give it, they gather it up;
you open your hand, they have their fill.

You hide your face, they are dismayed;
you take back your spirit, they die,
returning to the dust from which they came.

You send forth your spirit, they are created;
and you renew the face of the earth.

May the glory of the Lord last forever!
May the Lord rejoice in his works!

He looks on the earth and it trembles;
the mountains send forth smoke at his touch.

I will sing to the Lord all my life,
make music to my God while I live.

May my thoughts be pleasing to him.
I find my joy in the Lord.

Let sinners vanish from the earth and the wicked exist no more.
Bless the Lord, O my soul.

And again:

You made the moon to mark the months;
the sun knows the time for its setting.

How many are your works, O Lord!
In wisdom you have made them all.

Glory to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Spirit,
now and ever and forever. Amen.

Alleluia! Alleluia! Alleluia!
Glory to you, O God!  (twice)

Deacon: Commemorating our most holy, most pure, most blessed and glorious Lady, the Theotokos and ever-Virgin Mary with all the saints, let us commit ourselves and one another, and our whole life to Christ our God.

Response:

```
To you, O Lord.

Celebrant: Evening, morning, and at noon we praise you, we bless you, we thank you, and we pray to you, Master of All and loving Lord. Let our prayer rise like incense before you and do not let our hearts be turned to evil words or thoughts, but deliver us from all that might ensnare our souls. For to you Lord, O Lord, our eyes are turned and in you we hope; let us not be put to shame, O our God. For to you, Father, Son, and Holy Spirit, is due all glory, honor, and worship now and ever and forever.

The Lamp-lighting Psalms

_The faithful STAND for the great incensation of the church. They may SIT when the great incensation is complete._

Psalm 140 - Tone 1 samohlasen

O Lord, I have cried to you, hear me. Hear me, O Lord! O
```

Lord, I have cried to you, hear me; re - ceive the voice of my pray'r when I call up - on you. Hear me, O Lord! Let my pray'r ascend to you like incense and the lifting up of my hands like an evening sacrifice. Hear me, O Lord!

O Lord, set a guard before my mouth and set a seal on the door of my lips.

Let not my heart be inclined to evil, nor make excuse for the sins I commit.

Let me never share in sinners' feasting. If a just man strikes or reproves me it is kindness but let the oil of the wicked not anoint my head. Let my prayer be ever against their malice.

The princes were thrown down by the side of the rock; then they understood that my words were kind.

As a millstone is shattered to pieces on the ground, so their bones were strewn at the mouth of the grave.

To you, Lord God, my eyes are turned; in you I take refuge; spare my soul!

From the trap they have laid for me keep me safe; keep me from the snares of those who do evil.

Let the wicked fall into the traps they have set while I pursue my way unharmed.

Psalm 141 With all my voice I cry to the Lord, with all my voice I entreat the Lord.
I pour out my trouble before him;
    I tell him all my distress while my spirit faints within me.

But you, O Lord, know my path.
    On the way where I shall walk they have hidden a snare to enrap me.

Look on my right and see:
    there is no one who takes my part.

I have no means of escape,
    not one who cares for my soul.

I cry to you, O Lord.
    I have said: “You are my refuge, all I have in the land of the living.”

Listen, then, to my cry for I am in the depths of distress.

Rescue me from those who pursue me for they are stronger than I.

Bring my soul out of this prison and then I shall praise your name.

Around me the just will assemble because of your goodness to me.

Psalm 129
Out of the depths I cry to you, O Lord;
    Lord, hear my voice!

Let your ears be attentive to the voice of my pleading.

Then the hymns (stichera) of Great and Holy Friday are sung.
If you, O Lord, should mark our guilt, Lord, who would survive?

But with you is found forgiveness: for this we revere you.

The whole creation was transformed with fear, when it saw you hanging on the Cross, O Christ. The sun grew dark and the earth's foundations were shaken. All things suffered along with you, who made all things.

O Lord, who willingly endured this for us, glory to you!

My soul is waiting for the Lord. I count on his word. My soul is longing for the Lord more than watchman for daybreak.

The faithful repeat, “The whole creation was transformed with fear...”.
Let the watchman count on daybreak and Israel on the Lord.

O im pious and outlaw people, why do you plot vain things? Why did you condemn to death the Life of all? What a great wonder! The Creator of the world is betrayed into lawless hands and the Lover of us all is lifted up on the wood, so that he might save Hades' captives, who cry out:

O long-suffering Lord, glory to you.

Because with the Lord there is mercy and fullness of redemption, Israel indeed he will redeem from all its iniquity.
See-ing you on the Cross to-day, O Sin-less Word, the spot-less Vir-gin wept with ma-ter-nal ten-der-ness and her heart was sore-ly grieved. Groan-ing in pain from the depths of her soul, she spent her-self tear-ing at her cheeks and her hair and beat-ing her breast she cried out pit-i-fy-ly:

A - las, O divine Child! Alas, O Light of the world! Why are you fad-ing from my eyes, O Lamb of God? Then the ranks of angels were seized with trem-bling and said, O In-com-pre-hen-si-ble Lord, glo-ry to you.

Cantor:

Praise the Lord, all you na-tions; ac-claim him all you peo-ple's!

See-ing you, O Christ, hang-ing on the wood, you, the Cre-a-tor and God of all, the mother who bore you without seed cried out bitterly:

My Son, how have your form and beauty vanished? I cannot bear to see you unjustly crucified. Therefore hasten and arise that I may see your resurrection from the dead on the third day.

Strong is the love of the Lord for us; he is faithful forever.

Today the master of creation stands before Pilate, and the judge of all is handed over to be crucified. Led like a lamb, by his own will, he is fastened with nails and his side is pierced. The one who rained down manna is given drink from a sponge. The redeemer of the world is slapped in the face.
The One who fashioned everything is mocked by his own servants. Oh, how the Master loves mankind! He beseeches the Father on behalf of those who crucify him, saying: Remit this sin from them, for the lawless do not recognize what an unjust thing they are doing.

The faithful STAND when the holy doors are opened and the cantor sings:

Cantor:

Glory to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Spirit.

Doxastikon of Great and Holy Friday - Tone 6 samohlasen

How can the outlaw assembly condemn the King of creation to death?

They felt no shame when he recalled his good deeds which he had foreshadowed when he said to them: My people, what have I done to you? Did I not fill Judea with miracles? Did I not raise the dead with just a word?
Did I not heal every disease and illness? How then do you repay me?

Why have you forgotten me? In place of healings you have given me beatings.

In exchange for life, you give me death, hanging your benefactor on the wood like a criminal; the giver of the law like an outlaw; the king of all like one condemned. O long-suffering Lord, glory to you.

Now and ever and forever. Amen.

We see a fearsome and perplexing mystery acted out today. The invisible one is captured. The one who absolved Adam's curse is chained.

The searcher of hearts and minds is unjustly tried. Locked in prison is the one... who locks up the abyss. The one before whom heavenly powers stand trembling stands before Pilate. The Creator is slapped by a creature’s hand.

Condemned to the Cross is the Judge of the living and the dead. Enclosed in a tomb is he who overthrows Hades. You bear all out of sympathy, to save all from the curse, O forbearing Lord, glory to you.

Deacon: Commemorating our most holy, most pure, most blessed and glorious Lady, the Theotokos and ever-Virgin Mary with all the Saints, let us commit ourselves and one another, and our whole life to Christ our God.

Response: To you, O Lord.

The faithful STAND.

Celebrant: Great and most high God, you alone possess immortality and dwell in unapproachable light. You made all creation with wisdom, dividing light from darkness, establishing the sun to rule the day and the moon and stars to rule the night. You have allowed us sinners to approach your presence with thanksgiving in this present hour and to offer you evening praise. O Lord, Lover of us all, make our prayer ascend to you like incense and accept it as a sweet fragrance. Grant that we may spend the present evening and the coming night in peace; clothe us with the armor of light; deliver us from the fears of the night and from everything that lurks about in darkness. Grant that the sleep you have given us to refresh our fatigue may be free from all illusions of the devil. Yes, O Master of All, Giver of good things, let us feel contrition as we lie on our beds remembering your name throughout the night. Enlightened by meditation on your commands, may we rise with gladdened soul to give glory to your goodness, offering prayers and supplications to your compassion for our sins and those of all your people. Visit us with mercy through the intercession of the holy Theotokos.
For you, O God, are good and love us all, and we glorify you, Father, Son, and Holy Spirit, now and ever and forever.

Response:

Celebrant: Peace be to all!

Response:

And to your spirit.

Deacon: Bow your heads to the Lord!

Response:

To you, O Lord.

Celebrant: Lord our God, you bowed the heavens and came down for the salvation of the human race. Look upon your servants and upon your inheritance, for they have bowed their heads and bent their necks to you, the awesome Judge who love mankind. They do not expect human help, but await your mercy and long for your salvation. Protect them at all times, this evening and tonight, from every enemy, from all the devil’s assaults, from vain thoughts and evil imaginings. May the might of your kingdom be blessed and glorified, Father, Son, and Holy Spirit, now and ever and forever.

Response:

While the faithful sing the aposticha, the clergy enter the sanctuary, where they vest for the procession. The celebrant vests fully; concelebrants vest in epitrachilion and phelonion.

The faithful may SIT for the singing of the aposticha.

When the Arimathean took you, lifeless from the cross, O

Life of all, he wrapped you with myrrh and with a shroud, O Christ, and his heart was overcome with longing to enfold you with kisses.

Restrained by fear, he rejoiced instead and cried aloud:

O Lover of Humanity, glory to your condescension.

The Lord reigns, he is clothed in majesty.

When, for the sake of all, you were placed in a new tomb, O Redeemer of All, Hades was mocked, filled with terror when it saw you.
Its bars were trampled and its gates were smashed.

The tombs were opened and the dead arose. Then Adam rejoiced and cried out to you with gratitude: O Lover of Humanity, glory to your condescension.

Cantor:

The world he made firm, not to be moved.

When you allowed your body to be enclosed in the grave, you remained unlimited and boundless in your divine nature. You closed down Hades' store-house, O Christ, and emptied all its palaces.

Then you honored this Sabbath Day with divine blessing, glory, and your own radiance.

Cantor:

Holy ness is fitting to your house, O Lord, until the end of time.

When the heavenly hosts saw you slandered as a deceiver by lawless people, O Christ, they trembled at your indescribable patience, and seeing the stone sealed to your tomb by the hands which had pierced your immaculate side, they rejoiced nonetheless for our salvation and cried out to you:

O Lover of Humanity, glory to your condescension.

The faithful STAND.
When the “Glory... now and ever...” is sung, the celebrant incenses the shroud three times from the four sides of the holy table. The deacon also goes around the altar, standing opposite the celebrant and holding a large candle.

Cantor:

Glo - ry to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Spir - it, now and ev - er and for - ev - er. A - - - men.

All:

To - geth - er with Ni - co - de - mus, Jo - seph took you down from the wood, you who are wrapped in light as with a robe, and be - hold - ing you dead, naked and un - bur - ied, he be - gan to mourn you with deep sym - pathy, say - ing:

Woe is me, sweet - est Je - sus! Just a lit - tle while ago, the sun saw you hang - ing on the cross and veiled it - self in som - ber hues. The earth rocked with fear and the cur - tain of the Temple was torn in two. Now that I see how you willingly underwent death for me, How can I bury you, my God?

How will I wrap you in a shroud? How will I touch your spotless body with my hands? What dirges shall I sing at your departure, O Compassionate One? I exalt your passion and I praise your burial together with your resurrection, crying out: O Lord, glory to you.

The Prayer of the Holy Simeon the God-Bearer

Now you may dismiss your servant, O Lord, in peace according to your word; for my eyes have seen your salvation which you have prepared before the face of all people, a light for revelation to the Gentiles, and the glory of your people Israel.

Holy God, Holy and Mighty, Holy and Immortal, have mercy on us. (3 times)

Glory to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Spirit, now and ever and forever. Amen.
Most Holy Trinity, have mercy on us;
Lord, cleanse us of our sins;
Master, forgive our transgressions,

Holy One, come to us and heal our infirmities for your name's sake.

Lord, have mercy. Lord, have mercy.

Lord, have mercy.

Glory to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Spirit,
now and ever and forever. Amen.

Our Father, who art in heaven, hallowed be thy name.
Thy kingdom come, thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven.
Give us this day our daily bread,
and forgive us our trespasses
as we forgive those who trespass against us,
and lead us not into temptation,
but deliver us from evil.

Celebrant: For thine is the kingdom and the power and glory,
Father, Son, and Holy Spirit, now and ever and forever.

Response:

A - - - men.

In preparation for the procession, the clergy and servers prostrate before the shroud three times. The celebrant takes the shroud on his shoulders, so that the head of Christ in the image is at the top. If there are concelebrants, all the priests hold an edge of the shroud.

The shroud-bearers are preceded by the deacon who incenses while walking backwards. The clergy are preceded by the candle-bearers and other servers. The cross-bearer leads the procession which passes to the right and back of the holy table, and leaves the sanctuary through the northern door.
The noble Joseph took down your most pure body from the cross. He wrapped it in a clean shroud and with fragrant spices laid it in burial in a new tomb.

The same troparion, in Church Slavonic:

Outside the sanctuary, the procession moves down the northern side of the church to the doors of the nave. The faithful may join in the procession by following the clergy and the shroud.

From the doors of the nave, the procession continues to the tomb. It may go outside and circle the church once or three times in a counter-clockwise direction.
At the end of the procession, the shroud is placed in the tomb as the following troparion is sung in Tone 2:

Cantor:

Glo-ry to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Ho-ly Spir-it, now and ev-er and for-ev-er. A-men.

All:

The an-gel stand-ing by the tomb cried out to the myrrh-bear-ing wo-men:

Myrrh is fit-ting for the dead, but Christ has shown himself not sub-ject to cor-rup-tion.

The celebrant again, with the deacon standing opposite the tomb holding a large candle, incenses the shroud three times from the four sides of the tomb. The concelebrants stand in two files to the right and left of the tomb, facing one another. They stand far enough away from the tomb to allow the circumambulation by the celebrant and the deacon.

Deacon: Let us pray to the Lord.

Response: Lord, have mer-cy.
The celebrant or a concelebrant intones the Ambon Prayer of Great and Holy Friday:

Celebrant: Lord Jesus Christ our God, Savior of the world, you have made us worthy to reach this hour when, as God, you surrendered your divine soul as a ransom for the life of the world, and we will be saved from the tyranny of death and sin, as we serve you in newness of life. You cleansed us from sin by your own blood when you cried out in a loud voice, “Father, into your hands I commend my spirit.” Deliver us from every snare of the devil, grant compunction to our souls, and careful insight to our thoughts concerning your fearful and righteous judgment. Nail our bodies to fear of you, and put to death our earthly cares, that, rejecting all ungodliness and worldly desires, we may live in moderation, righteousness, and reverence. Do not turn your face away from us, but stretch out your hand in help, and raise us from our fall into sins. For you are our God, a God of mercy, salvation, and freedom from sins and we give glory to you, together with your eternal Father, and your all-holy, good, and life-creating Spirit, now and ever and forever.

Response:

A - - - - men.

Dismissal

Deacon: Wisdom!

Response:

Give the bles-sing.

Celebrant: Blessed is Christ our God, the One-Who-Is, always, now and ever and forever.

Response:

A - men. O God, strengthen the true faith, for-ev-er and ev-er.

Celebrant: O most holy Theotokos, save us!
Response: More honorable than the cherubim,
and beyond compare more glorious than the seraphim, who, a virgin, gave birth to God the Word,
you, truly the Theotokos, we magnify.

Celebrant: Glory to you, O Christ God, our hope, glory to you!

Response: Glory to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Spirit, now and ever and ever. Amen.

Lord, have mercy. Lord, have mercy. Lord, have mercy.
Give the blessing.

Celebrant: May Christ our true God, who endured dreadful sufferings, the life-giving cross, and voluntary burial for our salvation, have mercy on us and save us through the prayers of his most pure Mother, and through the prayers of all the saints; for Christ is good and loves us all.

Response:

A men.

The faithful approach to venerate the burial shroud while the following is sung in Tone 5 samohlasen:

Come, let us bless the ever-memor-a ble Jo-seph, who went to Pilate by night to beg for the Life of All: Give me this Strang-er, who has no place to lay his head.
Give me this Stranger, who was handed over to death by his wick-ed dis ci - ple.
Give me this Stranger, whose Mother wept, seeing him hanging on the cross, mourning and crying out in a motherly lament. Woe is me, my child! Woe is me, my Light, my Beloved whom I bore in my womb.

What was foretold by Simeon in the temple has come to pass today: A sword has pierced my heart, but change my tears into the joy of your resurrection.

We bow to your passion, O Christ! We bow to your passion, O Christ!

We bow to your Passion, O Christ, and to your holy Resurrection.
Prayers of Light

To be said quietly by the celebrant during the chanting of Psalm 103.

1. Lord, compassionate and merciful, long-suffering and rich in mercy, give ear to my prayer and attend to the sound of my plea. Show us a sign of your favor; guide us in your way so that we may walk in your truth. Gladden our hearts that we may fear your holy name, for you are great and do marvelous deeds. You alone are God, and among the gods there is none like you, O Lord. Powerful in mercy and gracious in strength, you help, comfort, and save all those who hope in your holy name. For to you, Father, Son, and Holy Spirit, is due all glory, honor, and worship, now and ever and forever. Amen.

2. Lord, do not rebuke us in your anger, nor punish us in your wrath. Deal with us according to your kindness, O Physician and Healer of our souls. Guide us to the harbor of your will; enlighten the eyes of our minds that we may know your truth. Grant that we may spend what remains of this day and the rest of our life peacefully and sinlessly through the intercession of the holy Theotokos and of all the saints. For yours is the might; and yours are the kingdom and the power and the glory, Father, Son, and Holy Spirit, now and ever and forever. Amen.

3. Lord our God, remember us your sinful and useless servants as we call upon your holy and sublime name, and do not put us to shame for hoping in your mercy. Grant us instead, O Lord, all our petitions which lead to salvation, and make us worthy to love and to fear you with all our hearts and to do your will in everything. For you are a good and loving God, and we give glory to you, Father, Son, and Holy Spirit, now and ever and forever. Amen.

4. You are praised by the holy powers with hymns that are never silent and in doxologies that never cease. Fill our mouth with your praise that we may ascribe majesty to your holy name. Through the intercession of the holy Theotokos and of all the saints, give us a share and an inheritance with those who fear you in truth and who keep your commandments. For to you, Father, Son, and Holy Spirit, is due all glory, honor, and worship, now and ever and forever. Amen.

5. Blessed are you, Lord God almighty. You know the human mind, you know our needs long before we ask or recognize them. Therefore, O loving King, good in every way, allow us in your great mercy to call upon your holy name with a clear conscience, and lead us not into temptation but deliver us from the evil one, and in your providence, arrange everything for our good. For to you, Father, Son, and Holy Spirit, is due all glory, honor and worship, now and ever and forever. Amen.

6. Lord, O Lord, you hold all things in your spotless hand; you are long-suffering toward all of us, and you repent over our evil deeds. Remember your mercy and your compassion. Visit us in your goodness and for the rest of this day enable us to flee from the many wiles of the evil one, and keep our life secure by the grace of your all-holy Spirit. Through the mercy and the loving-kindness of your only-begotten Son with whom you are blessed, together with your all-holy, good, and life-creating Spirit, now and ever and forever. Amen.

7. Great and wonderful God, you govern all things with indescribable goodness and rich providence. You have granted us the good things of this earth, and through the good things already bestowed on us, have given us a pledge of the promised kingdom. You have kept us away from every evil during the part of this day which has passed, even until the present moment; now allow us to complete the rest of the day without blame in the presence of your holy glory singing hymns to you, O God, who alone are good and love us all. For you are our God, and we give glory to you, Father, Son, and Holy Spirit, now and ever and forever. Amen.

8. (This prayer is prayed aloud at the conclusion of the Litany of Supplication.)
